

10-Week Program to take you from the couch to a 5K!

Lansdowne 5K Harvest Run Training

Proper Running Form

- Hold your head high, centered between your shoulders, and your back straight.
- Focus your gaze approximately 30-40 yards in front of you.
- Relax your jaw and neck.
- Keep your shoulders relaxed and parallel to the ground.
- When you run, your arms acts as a counterbalance and a pendulum. Keep your hands reasonably high and swing back and forth for a good cadence.

- If you haven't had a recent physical, get medical clearance from your doctor before you start running. At your doctor's visit, share your running plan and goals with your doctor and have him/her assess your plan and any potential health issues.
- Getting the right running shoes for your foot type is crucial for comfort and injury prevention. Visit a specialty running store to get expert advice on buying the right running shoes.
- Before you start your workouts, make sure you warm up properly by walking for five to 10 minutes. You should always end your workout with a cool-down.
- Exercise with a partner in safe areas.
- Drink plenty of fluids to stay hydrated.
